HARMONY.

The time has once more arrived, in the history of Hayti, when the need of harmony is felt.

There are some things just ahead of us which mean much for the town, and unless we get together and work together, and remain in harmony for the things that will benefit us most, we cannot expect to accomplish them.

It is very well for us to oppose one another in religion, politics, public questions and policies and in elections, but each man deserves and should have the right to his opinion, and no ill will should be occasioned.

But in matters for the progress of the city of Hayti and community, the people should be one; there should be no friend and no foe and no old sores, old grudges or old likes and dislikes.

In fact, it is wrong to hold malice and wrong to seek revenge, and a man who cannot rise above this, is in a sad plight.

We should forget and forgive, and because a man has been wrong once, not close the door against him to get right. So let every citizen of Hayti join in the fight for a better and greater town, and whenever there is a chance to do good, do it, regardless of who is benefitted, for what benefits the town must be shared by every citizen.

THOMAS I. BROOKS.

In the proper column, Thomas I. Brooks announces himself as a candidate for collector of the revenues for Pemiscot county.

We have known Tom for several years, and are glad to say that he is one of the county's best citizens, and since arriving at the age of maturity has proven himself a careful and successful business man. He is a member of one of our pioneer families, being the son of W. C. (Billie) Brooks, and the grandson of Bailey Brooks.

Mr. Brooks is pretty well known throughout the county, and being well qualified to fill the office will no doubt make a strong race, and if elected, no one will have a right to complain, as the affairs of the county will be in safe hands.

LOCAL OPTION.

Just at the present time the Hayti Herald has nothing to say about local option, and we may never have anything to say—we do not know, at this time. But of course, if the question gets open, and the fight gets on, we may be drawn into it.

The Hayti Herald, while full of fighting blood, and always on the winning side, is not looking for a scrap, and hopes not to have any, so long as its feeling and the rights of the people of Pemiscot county are respected.

In the matter of local option, Caruthersville is entirely separate and distinct from the county, voting separately, and in this respect, should permit the people, outside of Caruthersville, to manage their own affairs.

Pemiscot county has an unusually intelligent class of citizens, and they usually know what they want or do not want, and should be permitted to manage their own affairs. For the present, this is all we have to say.

EDITOR KILLS MAYOR.

On the 12th, at Morehouse, the editor of the Morehouse Hustler, shot and killed the mayor of the city, Dr. L. W. Hart, shooting him four times.

The cause of the killings is said to be ill feeling engendered about three years ago, by an article published at that time, as a result of which the men had an encounter. The old feeling was renewed at the present city election when the editor allowed a citizen to write a letter to the paper, criticising Doctor Hart, and when the men met Tuesday, a few words were passed, and the editor fired the fatal shots. He immediately surrendered, and was placed in jail at New Madrid.

This is another illustration of carrying things too far in print, and allowing people to vent their spleen through the columns of a paper.

COOPER PARDONED.

In thirty minutes after the supreme court had affirmed the sentence of Col. Duncan B. Cooper for the killing of Senator Edward W. Carmack, Gov. Patterson issued a full and unconditional pardon. The case of Robin C. Cooper was remanded for new trial.

Much bitter feeling is caused by the pardon coming so quick, and political affairs in Tennessee are greatly intensified and factions are created that will last for years.

Whether Gov. Patterson was right or wrong we will not attempt to say, but it does seem that this unfortunate affair, from first to last, should serve as a lesson to the entire nation as to the importance of settling differences at the polls, and when the people have spoken let that be final.

TO DRY ALFALFA.

H. B. McClure, of the department of agriculture, has been here several days, completing the alfalfa drying plant on the Alfalfa Farm. As we have been very busy for some time, we have failed to give this project the attention it deserved, and for that reason we are not in a possession of the full particulars, but Mr. McClure promised us last year that when the plant was finally placed in operation he would give us full particulars. The drying is to be done by artificial heat, conveyed through pipes, and many tests and experiments are to be made. It seems that the plan is practical, and if so, the handling of alfalfa will be revolutionized and the crop will be more profitable.

New Madrid Record: "Pemiscot county people haven't recovered from the bad feelings and hatred hatched by their local option fight four years ago, and a movement is on foot to get the county court to order another local option election. It looks like some people enjoy a scrap, and all such will find Pemiscot a fine field."

What the d— and Tom Walker has Pemiscot county ever done to the other counties of Southeast Missouri that they continually want to fling their slurs this way? Of course they generally get a brickbat between the eyes every time they do it, but as soon as they are sufficiently recovered they are at it again. Now, under the laws of the State or Missouri, the people of Pemiscot county have a right to hold a local option election, if they so desire, and it is no body's business but their own.

Jackson Herald: It is funny how much stuff these hot air bureaus want you to publish free. They think the ordinary country editor does not know what to say editorially. But that is where they miss it. Some of these country editors know a great deal more they want to tell.

The thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Southeast Missouri Medical association will be held in the opera house at Morehouse, Mo., April 26, 27 and 28. Dr. W. B. Hays is president of the association. Dr. R. T. Henderson of Cape Girardeau county is one of the councillors.
